

Nepa India is looking for an experienced HR Manager that help people grow

You are an experienced and dedicated HR Manager who will take a lead in developing our 50+ (and growing) employees in India. You have a passion for people development and feel at home in an entrepreneurial, fast moving environment.

As our new Head of HR India

You will be part of our Global HR team, working closely with Global Head of HR, stationed at HQ in Stockholm Sweden, and MD India. You will transfer and implement our global strategies to fit local activities like recruitment, onboarding, training, development programs, legislative compliance, reward programs, exit processes, benefit programs, pensions and other relevant HR activities.

You will be responsible for advising and influencing the management team to ensure great working environments with the inclusion of moral and employee engagement. Through change management and demonstrated great communication skills, you are a key player in driving and developing the organization and the employees.

To succeed in the role, you have a Human Resource management degree and 7-10 years of practical experience from an entrepreneurial driven growth company. An international experience is a huge advantage since you will work continuously with our Global HR team abroad. You will report directly to MD India and Global Head of HR.

A few more things

- You have proven communication skills and excellent presentation skills.
- You combine a strong doer mentality with a high level of quality and service.
- You thrive in a dynamic environment with a high growth rate.
- You work hard to achieve goals while being humble, unpretentious and team-oriented as you truly believe in the power of collaboration.
- You are fluent in English, both in writing and speech.
