Comments by the CEO

LAUNCH OF A NEW QUARTERLY REPORT FORMAT

Today, we launch a new version of our quarterly financial report to increase the transparency of our journey. An important new element is the reclassification of the segment reporting. Now, we distinguish between subscription revenue (recurring revenue less repetitive campaign tests in previous reporting format) and ad hoc revenue from subscribers versus other clients.

In addition, we disclose key performance indicators such as:

- Annual Recurring Revenue (ARR)
- Net revenue retention (NRR)
- Churn
- Average revenue per subscriber

We have also abandoned the market-specific segment reporting and instead increased the focus on our product and solution segments. We consider these changes giving a better depiction of Nepa.

THE QUARTER IN SHORT

Net sales in the first quarter declined by 9 percent or SEK 7.2 million compared to the same period last year. SEK 6 million of the decline was attributable to fewer ad hoc projects with clients not enrolled in any subscription contract. Such revenue was down 31.5 percent and mirrors the weak market the industry currently experiences.

On the positive, we have a stable base of subscribing clients with a churn in the quarter of 1.6 percent. Subscription revenue grew by 0.5 percent and ARR (Annual Recurring Revenue) declined by 1.3 percent. Ad hoc revenue from subscribers decreased by 7.7 percent.

The gross margin is under pressure from fewer ad hoc projects, lower revenue from the Customer Experience segment, and negative FX effects.

THE COST SAVING PROGRAMS

The previously announced cost saving programs were projected to save SEK 31.2 million of personnel costs and other external costs on an annual basis from the cost base in place before the programs, in October and November 2022. But, given the weaker than expected market in the short-term, the savings are materializing too slowly. Therefore, we are aggressively accelerating actions to fully realize the targeted cost savings and reach an annual cost base (personnel and other external costs) of SEK 220 million by Q4 2023.

In addition, we are pushing our sales efforts more intensively to restore profitability.

FOCUS ON SALES

Average subscription revenue per subscriber has grown from SEK 0.97 million in 2019 to SEK 1.27 million in the last 12 months, every year with low churn and steady NRR. This is the result of good work in scaling and upgrading existing clients with increased scopes of tracking solutions. Now we need to increase the focus on adding new clients.

The newly established sales organization that took effect at the start of the quarter has already shown positive pipeline development and has been able to secure several new marquee brands as clients. As they adopt our subscription model, revenue from these clients will grow over time.

OUTLOOK

Our effort in building a more effective sales organization amidst a challenging market climate is demanding and will take some time, but we believe it is the right strategic step to take to create long-term and lasting shareholder value. Currently, we experience prolonged sales cycles and hesitant clients. The April sales development, especially ad hocs, still mirrors the weak demand in the market.
